

Homecoming, 1954 Style

Homecoming, 1954 style, for the University of Omaha is history.

The celebration commenced with a parade and pep rally in downtown Omaha Friday noon, moving on to a bonfire rally and all-school dance that evening.

Pat Norman, blonde-haired, blue-eyed senior speech major, was crowned Homecoming Princess at the dance by President Milo Bail. Indian braves carried her through the Peony Park Ballroom on a litter covered with an Indian blanket which concealed her identity until the last minute.

The noon parade featured the first appearance of Chief Ouampi, human counterpart of the Indian symbol of the University. Plans now call for his appearance at all home grid games.

Tenth Straight Victory

Highlighting events Saturday was the traditional football game in the afternoon. Coach Lloyd Cardwell's Indians won their eighth straight Homecoming victory and their tenth straight ball game, snapping an old jinx by drubbing St. Ambrose College, 35-14.

Miss Norman, a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, made her second appearance as Homecoming Princess during the halftime ceremonies, attended by Pat Cosford, Joan Willey and Faith Stitt. She was presented to Dr. Bail by Student Council member Jim Erixon. Dr. Bail then presented her to the 5,500 students, alumni and friends at the game. Game attendance was the largest in the history of the University.

Princess's Gifts Numerous

Floral tributes were presented the Princess by Corinne Houser, president of Chi Omega sorority, Jane Anderson, president of Zeta Tau Alpha and Roger Dunbar, on behalf of the athletes of Omaha University.

Miss Norman was also presented with a letter sweater by Jerry Noré on behalf of the "O" Club, making her an honorary member of that organization.

Two Indians on horseback circled the field, stopping in front of the stadium to lead students and alumni in the traditional Indian chant.

Orchestra Presents Indian Dance

Completing the half time ceremonies, members of Orchestis, modern dance group, gave an Indian ceremonial dance in a half circle formed by the University band.

University alumni celebrated at their annual Homecoming dance Saturday night at the Hotel Fontenelle. Officers and the Board of Directors were announced at the dance.

'No Violence Between U.S., Russia'—Cousins

By Bob Henkel

"Non-violent competition between the United States and the Soviet Union is the only answer to the present world conflict." This solution was offered to the Institute on World Affairs Thursday evening by Norman Cousins in a speech entitled "The Realities of Co-existence."

Cousins, distinguished author and editor of the Saturday Review, told a capacity audience in the University auditorium, "This can be done only by the accomplishment of a twofold program.

"An enforceable and foolproof worldwide disarmament program is needed, based not on treaty, but absolute authority of the United Nations. When an international police force, organized before, not after aggression is a reality," he continued, "only then can we have non-violent competition."

The United Nations is slowly dying, so a "new appraisal of the organization is needed," Cousins said.

He said that political parties right now are conducting back alley campaigns and have lost sight of the real world problem.

"Leadership must come from you, the public," Cousins emphasized. He suggested that Omaha invite the Wiley sub-committee for the study on charter review to conduct hearings on the possible amending of the United Nations Charter.

Cousins is vice-president of the United World Federalists, which is working for a drastically strengthened United Nations, and has been editor of the Saturday Review of Literature since 1940. During World War II he was the editor of U.S.A., published by the government for distribution throughout the world.

Australian Music Director Speaks

"You have nine million friends in Australia," declared Morris Barr, convocation speaker here Wednesday.

Barr spoke on "What Americans Don't Know About Australia—But Should." He presented three songs, "Fairings," "The Bush Night Song" and "Wandering the King's Highway."

A native Australian, Barr came to the United States to study music education here. It was then that he started his series of lectures in American cities. He is head of one of the major Australian conservatories.

Ex-Regent Crowned Ak-Sar-Ben King

Former member of the OU Board of Regents, Morris Jacobs, was crowned King Ak-Sar-Ben LX Friday.

Jacobs was introduced as "Mr. Omaha" when he spoke here Oct. 8 at the Founder's Day program. Jacobs is now head of Bozell and Jacobs advertising agency. He is general chairman of the Centennial celebration.

Senior Talent Show Starts Chest Drive

The Senior Talent Show opened the 1954 Campus Chest Drive Monday morning.

Two up-tempo selections by Johnny Vana and his combo started the night club-style show. Pat Kavan sang "Sibone" and "I'm in Love With a Wonderful Guy." "Lucky Old Sun" and "Because of You" were sung by Rudy Rotella. Marcia Johnson's piano solo of "Malaguena" followed.

Larry Means played "Ebb Tide" and a boogie-woogie number on the piano. Ted Romberg, accompanied by Don Bucknam, sang "La Dona Mobile" and "Without a Song." Johnny Vana played the drums. His combo closed the program with "Dark Town Strutter's Ball" and "Bye-Bye Blues." Lyle DeMoss, WOW-TV program director, was emcee.

W. Lawrence Shoemaker, campaign chairman of the Omaha Community Chest, addressed the audience.

At noon Wednesday pledges and contributions amounted to nearly $500.

Winners of the "Ugly Man, Cutest Pan" contest, in connection with the drive, will be announced in next week's Gateway.

Alumni Association Names Seitzer Prexy

A 1950 graduate will head the University of Omaha Alumni Association for the current year. Robert E. Seitzer was announced president Saturday at the group's annual Homecoming dance. The former vice-president of the Association is promotion manager for WOW-TV.

Elected to the Board of Directors are Paul Beck, Harold E. Poff, Jr., Paul Gaer, Jean Bressler, Mrs. Marjorie Murphy and Robert C. Schropp.

Board of Regents Advance New Student Center Plans

The next step in the University's building program was approved by the University Board of Regents at their meeting last week. Preliminary sketches and cost estimates will be made for the proposed Student Center by an architect.

Regents To Add West Parking Lots

A partial relief to the parking situation at the University is in sight. The Board of Regents last week voted to have two additional parking lots built west of the present Fieldhouse parking lot.

These lots will hold an additional 160 automobiles, Vice-President for Business Management Charles Hoff announced. The contract, which calls for curb, gutter and crushed rock surfacing, will cost $6,000.

Another contract approved was the construction of wooden steps to replace the old steps leading to the south parking lot.

New purchases were also approved at last week's meeting. New furniture and an air purifier for the student lounge will cost $3,000.

The stage and the aisles in the auditorium will be carpeted at a cost of nearly $1,000.

Fifty metal clothing lockers; mainly for students in nurses' training, and 100 tablet arm chairs complete the list of purchases.

The sketches will be based on the report of a joint student-faculty-administrative committee. This committee has been working for the past three years on what should be included in the Student Center.

Vice President Charles Hoff said cost of the building, approximately $1,250,000, may vary depending on the architect's preliminary sketches and cost estimate.

At the present time there is "about $100,000" in the Student Center building fund, Hoff said. This money has accumulated from the profits of the University Bookstore. Revenue bonds will be used for most of the financing, he said.

Last spring the Student Center Planning Committee, headed by C. Glenn Lewis, recommended in their report various facilities be included in a Student Center. Lewis is professor of business administration.

This report called for both men's and women's dormitory wings, accommodating a total of 160 students.

A ballroom twice the size of the present auditorium, to accommodate 250 couples, would double as a banquet hall or lounge. In addition, three student lounges with a combined capacity of 200 students would adjoin the ballroom.

Other recreational facilities recommended were game room, reading rooms, check room and bowling alleys.

The report suggested that office space be assigned to the Student Council, Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, Alumni Association and Student Publications.

A bookstore was planned for the main corridor on the ground floor. A cafeteria dining room large enough for serving 500 people in two lines and a snack area with a 400 person capacity were suggested for dining facilities.

Other student services considered were a barber shop and faculty club room with a 150 person capacity.

Service Changes

The Food Service Department has announced a new schedule for cafeteria service. Supper lines will open at 4 p. m., and hot food will be served at 4:30 p. m. This schedule is in effect Monday through Thursday.

Polls Re-open Wednesday

Students will go to the polls Wednesday between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. to elect a senior president, a junior secretary-treasurer and a woman Council representative and four freshmen Council representatives.

The special election was called due to Student Council action on protests of the Oct. 13 election, a tie for a class office and the vacancy of a Council post.

Candidates for senior president are John Cottrell and Wayne Wagner.

Juniors will select either Barbara Day or Mary Jane Jeter for junior secretary-treasurer. Candidates for the vacant junior Council post are Blanche Bell, Marianne Bowley, Shirley Decker, Pat Kavan and Pat Summers.

Freshmen will elect two men and two women for Student Council. Candidates are Gary Blohm, Ron Claussen, Betti Coleman, Joan Derham, Janell Fiala, James Graddy, Frank Huber, Marylin Johnson and Phyllis Kuta.

Others are Jill Moredick, Toby Okrent, Shirley Palladino, Bruce Peterson, Houghton Reed, Kent Strang, Jeanne Vogt and Janet Winslow.

Political Science Authority To Lecture at World Institute

A writer and lecturer of political science will speak at the University World Affairs Institute Nov. 3. William Smyser will discuss "Aid—Trade; A Realistic Policy" at the 8:15 p. m. program in the auditorium.

Prior to his lecture series in 1951, Smyser served 18 years in the United States Foreign Service in Europe and Asia. As a career diplomat, he has been involved in several perilous missions. In Berlin, he suffered diplomatic internment at the outbreak of World War II; in Prague he acted as commercial attache during the last days of the doomed anti-Communist regime, and in Bangkok, Thailand, as economic officer of the American Embassy, he barely missed death when his home was raked by rebel gunfire.

At one time Smyser wrote articles for This Week, Reader's Digest and other American magazines on his African travels and a series of profiles on leading European writers, scientists and spokesmen.

Smyser was graduated magna cum laude from Harvard University and later received his Master's degree there in 1924.

Meet the Faculty Homemaker, Writer Now Teaching English at OU

Mrs. Marion Marsh Brown had some spare time—and that's how it all began. You see, she was just doubling as a career woman and housewife at the time.

The result is three teenaged books published and one due in the spring. Mrs. Brown has always been interested in young people and writing.

During her college undergraduate days at Peru State Teachers College, she majored in English and worked on school publications.

She has dabbled in professional writing before, writing features and short stories for such magazines as "Western Family."

Sparetime Writer
New she writes "when I'm not doing anything else."

Mrs. Brown's first book was a Junior Literary Guide choice, "Young Nathan." This was followed by "Swamp Fox," which was given an award by the Boys' Club of America.

"Frontier Beacon" was the third and "Broad Stripes and Bright Stars" will be published next year. They have all been published by the Westminster Press.

Graduate Student
Besides a BA degree from Peru, Mrs. Brown has an MA from the University of Nebraska and has also taken graduate work at the University of Minnesota.

An 18-year Omaha resident, she has taught Adult Education night classes for the last ten years. This year she has nine hours of English classes in day school and six at night.

Also Taught in High Schools

She previously taught in high schools and at Peru before marrying attorney Gilbert S. Brown.

The native Nebraskan spends much of her free time with her son Paul. A freshman footballer at Benson high school, he provided the new attraction of watching the "Baby Bunnies" play and being a member of the Benson High Boosters.

In line with her writing career, Mrs. Brown is the president of the Nebraska Writers Guild, an organization of about 150 published writers in the state.

Danielson, Cain Turn into Food Tasters

Ever taste four kinds of spinach, three types of tomatoes or two varieties of fruit juice at one time?

Mrs. Cathern Danielson, assistant food service manager and Harlan Cain, director of Auxiliary Enterprises, did just this last Thursday at the University of Nebraska.

Invited to Lincoln

Invited to the Lincoln campus by the University, they spent the day tasting the different fruits, vegetables and juices for the campus food service department.

"Like Omaha U, Nebraska buys its food on a quantity basis, and therefore want to be sure the quality of the food is good," said Mrs. Danielson. "We tasted opened, unlabeled canned goods checking for color, uniformity of size, absence of defects and character of food."

"The food was all cold, and we went back and forth between ten tables tasting all the foods," said Cain.

Foods Differ

"Most people don't realize that different types of the same food can differ," Mrs. Danielson pointed out. "But when you see them all on one plate it is noticeable."

"I hope that we will be able to do somewhat the same thing at OU next year," concluded Mrs. Danielson.

Dictatorships Old To New Student

Although only a freshman, Martin Trautrimas is a graduate student in the theory and practice of dictatorships. Much of his boyhood was spent under two types of dictatorship; the leftist variety of Soviet dominated Lithuania and the extreme right of war time Nazi Germany.

To Germany

The Trautrimas family emigrated to Germany from their native Lithuania one year after Russia annexed the little republic. He still doesn't understand why the communist officials willingly let them leave.

Martin spent the war in the Schleswig-Holstein district of north Germany. He remembers seeing Allied planes crash into the nearby Baltic Sea.

D. P. Camps

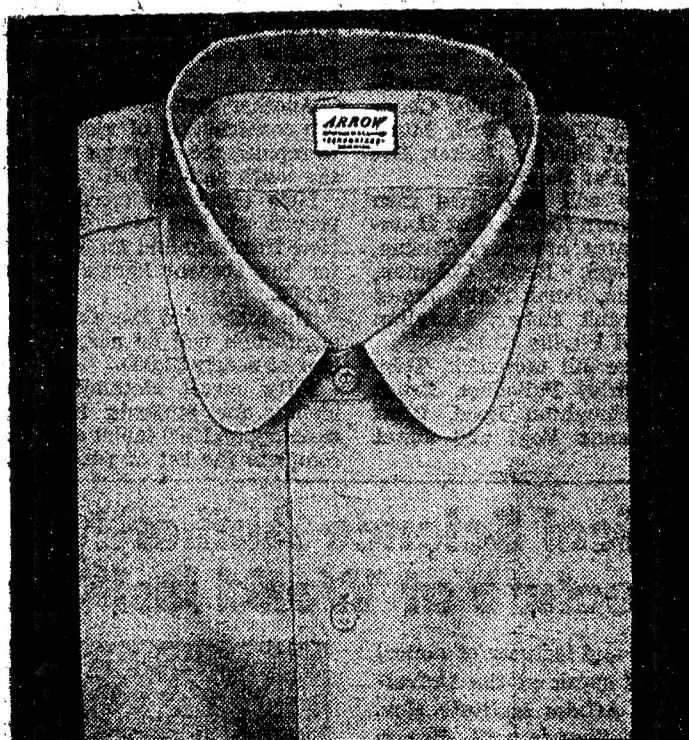

As with most Iron Curtain refugees, Martin's post war existence was one long series of displaced persons camps. Trautrimas believes he lived in at least 20 of these camps.

Russian propagandists enticed the Trautrimas family to return to Lithuania, which had since become a Soviet puppet. A few refugees accepted the Russian offer of repatriation, Martin reports. He suspects the returnees all ended up in Siberia.

Arriving in the United States three years ago, Trautrimas first lived on a Nebraska farm. The family then moved to Omaha, where Martin graduated from South High in 1953.

Indians Will Attempt Perfect Road Season

Omaha University's all-victorious Indians will take to the road tomorrow to try for their seventh straight victory of the season when they clash with Northern Illinois in De Kalb, Ill.

In the five games played between the two teams, the Indians are credited with only one victory over the Huskies. The Indians beat them for the first time last year 47-14.

If the Indians emerge victorious tomorrow they will record their first perfect road season in history.

No Serious Injuries

The Indians escaped the St. Ambrose encounter without any serious injuries. Simon A. Simon, Rudy Rotella and Ed Baker are nursing serious bruises, but should be ready by game time tomorrow.

Ken Conrad, blocking back who has been benched the past two weeks with a bad knee, is the only doubtful on the Indian roster. Contact work the past week at the Indian camp has been light because of the numerous bruises.

Coach Cardwell said, "We hope to get in decent running shape by tomorrow. If we do we will do all right."

Praises Ends

Cardy had special praise for the Indian ends for their fine play in the St. Ambrose encounter. "All the boys did a fine job," he explained.

Cardwell stated that he thought the Indians were passing and catching better in the St. Ambrose game than any other.

Bill Englehardt collected a total of 310 yards rushing and passing in the St. Ambrose game to increase his six-game total to 1,241 yards. Going into the St. Ambrose game Englehardt was leading the nation's small college backs in offensive yardage with 831 yards.

Indians Grab First St. Ambrose Victory

Omaha U. gridgers continued their winning ways Saturday afternoon with a 35-14 Homecoming victory over St. Ambrose.

A crowd estimated at 5,500 saw coach Lloyd Cardwell's undefeated Bees for their sixth straight victory of the season.

Bill Englehardt rolled up half the Red-and-Black yardage, gaining 155 yards running and 155 yards passing.

A two-touchdown attack in the first quarter started the Indians' offensive. Rudy Rotella fumbled a 11-yard Englehardt pass. Recovering the bobbled ball, Dick Cotton raced to the St. Ambrose six. Two plays later Englehardt bulled over from the three.

Englehardt's 36-yard scoring pass to Cotton gave the Indians touchdown number two in the same quarter.

Sensational Runs

Both second stanza Omaha tallies were the result of sensational runs. Early in the period, Englehardt raced 64 yards to score on an off-tackle play. Shorter but more spectacular was Emil Radik's 26-yard touchdown run. He shook four Bee defenders enroute to the goal line.

The fifth Omaha tally came late in the fourth quarter. An Englehardt ten-yard pass to Rotella climaxed a 61-yard scoring march.

In defensive play the teams were matched almost evenly.

Englehardt Leading

Indian ace Bill Englehardt led the nation's small college backs in total offensive last week.

Englehardt totaled 831 yards in five games, a sum 8 yards ahead of Iowa Teachers' Ralph Capitani. The statistics gathered by the NCAA Service Bureau did not include the St. Ambrose game.

During Saturday's victory over the Bees, Englehardt collected 310 yards.
